42. GOLDHILL ADVENTURE PLAYGROUND

43. PRINCE'S TRUST

Gemma Pearce and Jordan Lutchman from the Prince's Trust presented information on a two-week programme for personal development for young people not in employment, which was run in partnership with the Job Centre, and Connexions Young Offenders teams.

The programme included work experience and work in the community, and training on job interview skills. The programme had resulted in some young people gaining employment by raising skills and confidence.

It was generally agreed at the meeting that the work of the Prince's Trust was very good and valuable for the young people and communities where work had been undertaken.

44. COUNCILLORS' COMMUNITY REPORT

Ward Councillors reported on the following:

- The Housing Task Force was ensuring the Council was doing all it could in relation to sheltered accommodation (4/5 months project).

- A South Neighbourhood Management Meeting had been held to announce a 12 month project to raise the awareness of breast feeding, the Stop Smoking campaign, and issues of obesity in young children.
- Patch walks had been held in the ward to assess the numbers of people attending education classes.
- Events had been attended at Rupert House, local theatre groups, a production at Curve, and attendance at walking classes in the ward.
- Councillors had attended the Best School Attendance awards, which recognised students who had achieved 100% attendance. As a reward, students had visited the Great Central Railway.
- Councillors thanked residents for suggesting grit bin location in the ward. Residents wished to know how many had been installed in Eyres Monsell. Requests were made to ask for grit coverage for internal pathways in bungalow complexes.
- Councillors were coordinating a conference on 25th May 2012 on Child Poverty, which would bring together health organisations, schools and parents.
- Councillors were seeking a volunteer to attend the Bus User Panel – one resident volunteered to attend.

45. POLICE UPDATE

The Police were present to discuss issues around rogues traders and cold callers. The main message to residents was don't answer the door unless it was checked who was there. The Police stated that most distraction burglaries seemed to occur from people pretending to represent the main utilities companies, for example, gas, water and electric. Memory minders were provided to remind residents to ask for identification of the caller before they answered the door.

The Police also informed resident about a nominated neighbour scheme. Vulnerable people could nominate a neighbour to receive visitors on their behalf to verify the visitors' authenticity. Also a 'No Cold Caller' zone could be set up, but would require the majority of residents to agree to this.

Councillor Palmer pointed out that charity collectors were getting more aggressive, and that issues regarding bogus clothes collectors were raised. Residents also raised the issue of leaflet drops from fast food outlets, as leaflets left in letter boxes clearly showed that no-one was at home, and provided an opportunity for burglaries.

The Police highlighted that there was a new Community Police Office located in the Eyres Monsell Community Centre, should residents require assistance.

The Police then reported that there was a significant increase in anti-social behaviour around the area of the Exchange. In the main, youths were not from the local area and could be down to a lack of youth facilities. Police work was on-going to deal with the issue. The Police also reported that generally crime was 'level' within the ward.

The Police informed the meeting that there was a change to the Police structure was introduced at the meeting and a larger team would be supporting the area. The team would be more focused on local issues, and revised shifts would be in operation after the Olympics.

Residents asked if they would access crime statistics for the area. The Police response was residents could log into the Police website which gave crime statistics for areas.

46. CITY WARDEN UPDATE

City Wardens informed residents that the project was on-going to deal with dog fouling and that shifts were in place to patrol early morning and late evening. A resident asked who checked and emptied the dog bins. The City Warden replied that it was the responsibility of City Cleansing. Residents were provided a hand-out relating to priorities for City wardens for the next six months.

Residents raised the issue of car parking on grass verges and asked what the City Warden could do to address the problem. The City Wardens informed the meeting that they could issue a notice to have any cars obstructing the highway to be removed within seven days.

47. HOUSING UPDATE

Ben Manners, Housing, was present to inform residents of the project for installing raised planters in bungalow complexes. He reported that consultation was still on-going with residents on Packhorse Road, asking if residents wished to have the raised planters. A condition on installing the planters was that residents must agree to maintain them once installed, therefore, consideration must be given to resident's mobility issues to be able to participate in the scheme.

Ben also reported on the 'Dropped Kerb' scheme, and installing parking bays for local residents to deal with on-road parking issues in the ward. The scheme would be undertaken in partnership with residents to create off-street parking. It was established that Housing Office funds would be used for work to drop the kerb, but residents would pay for the hard-standing driveway. The project also helped with improving safety on long pavements. The meeting was informed that 35 properties had benefitted from the scheme so far.
